Thus, in 1805, the value of British imports received via Corfu, by Ionian vessels, was $207,135, and by Greek vessels $69,040; and in 1856 the British goods forwarded from Corfu by the above flage amounted to $375,000. This trade is chiefly direct ed to the port of Patras, and is annually increasing both in tonnage and value. The total number of ressels that entered this port in 1856 was 718, of which 131 were under the British flag. The total value of imports was $1,479,885, of which $577,135 was in British bottoms. The total value of exports was $4,304,060, of which $3,519,965 was borne un der the British flag.

livered by his Majesty at the opening of the Chambers early in January of this year, that a new tariff of duties would be submitted to Parliament more in accordance with the present liberal system adopted by most other governments. In pursuance of this have been made in the tariff of Gresce, which will prove highly beneficial to the interests of the kingdom generally, as well as to its foreign commerce. The port charges are, in the ports of Pirous, Lyra, Nasplia, Marathonensis, Pylos, Calamatu, Navarino, and Patras : On vessels of 20 tons, 1; cent per ton; above 20 tons, 2 cents per ton. In other ports, on cent per ton. Clearance permit on vessels of 20 tons, 84 cents: 21 to 50 tons, 1 drachma = 164 cents; over 50 tons, 2 drachmas = 33; cents.

THE RESPONSE FROM THE NORTHERN DEMO-

The Ulster (New York) Republican of the 2d ins contains a clear and an ably-written article on the action of the Kansas constitutional convention. The Republican says:

"The result of the action of the constitutional convention of Kansas was so greatly and wickedly misrepresented in the first reports after that body had completed its labors and adjourned, that the attempts to prejudice the people of the Union against it might have proved successful, in a measure, had not the truth in regard to the matter found its way into the public journals too soon to enable this last scheme of the 'shrickers' to succeed. It was positively asserted, over and over again, that the constitution framed by the convention would certainly perpetuate slavery in the new State, even should a majority of the people vote for the constitution without slavery. But the schedule adopted by the convention to be presented to Congress, after submitted to the people, requires only to be read to satisfy every intelligent man that no such opinion is justified. It is left to the people of Kansas to prohibit or legalize slavery, as a majority shall decide through the ballot-box, and whatever that decision may be, when it shall be so pronounced it will meet the cordial acquiescence of all good men throughout the Union. We regret that our space to-day will not permit us to publish the schedule in full, but we shall present our readers with the substance of it in a condensed form, taking the sections consecutively."

After giving a sketch of the schedule, the Repub-

After giving a sketch of the schedule, the Repub-

After giving a sketch of the schedule, the Republican proceeds:

"Such are the provisions of the State constitution of Kansas, and for its submission to the people and Congress. They are, for aught we can see, all that are required to carry fully into practice the principles of the Kansas-Nebraska act. They certainly provide that the people of Kansas shall determine for themselves what their domestic institutions shall be. This is the great principle of popular sovereignty, and the schedule proposed by the convention makes full provision for carrying it fairly into effect.

"Much has been said, founded on the news first received by the Associated Press of New York, in regard to a provisional government for Kansas, with Gen. Calhoun as governor, established by the constitutional convention. Iake the hundreds of similar stories invented by the 'shriekers,' it is ascertained to be wholly untrue. This report had no other foundation than the fact of the adoption by the convention of preliminary measures requisite to carry into effect the provisions of the constitution, and are the same in principle and form with those of Ohio, Indiana, Louisiana, Illinois, Michigan, and others upon their admission into the Union as States. So far, therefore, from having overthrown the federal authority in the establishment of a provisional government, the convention has simply provided for submitting the constitution to the people at an election for that purpose, to be held by three judges in every precinct, chosen by commissioners to be appointed by the president of the convention. Some provision of the kind was imperative, being required to ascertain the popular will."

The following pointed article appears in the Al-

bany Argus:

"The constitutional convention of Kansas, it must be admitted on all hands, has fairly submitted the slavery question to a popular vote. All citizens of the Territory of full age are at liberty to vote upon it. Such a vote is the next act in the drama, and since learning what the convention had done we have preferred to press home upon the republican leaders, and upon the free-State men of Kansas, the responsibility of deciding the question, and of being answerable for the result, instead of anticipating and discussing in advance the next question of how Congress shall act ofter their decision. It will be in time to meet that question when it arises, and it is quite obvious gress shall act ofter their decision. It will be in time to meet that question when it arises, and it is quite obvious that the action in the Territory on the 21st of December may materially affect the course which Congress will pursue. We have not been disposed to release the republican politicians and their coadjutors in Kansas from the just responsibility of meeting or refusing to meet this subject at the polls on the 21st inst., by guarantying to them beforehand indemnity from a democratic administration and a democratic Congress.

"We have preferred that they should take the hazard and the responsibility of making Kansas a free or a slave State, as they evidently can at their election. When they shall have discharged their duty at the polls, then, and not till then, will that of Congress begin.

"The Evening Journal of this city, one of the leading shrickers for 'bleeding Kansas,' is constrained to advise its friends in Kansas to vote on the 21st inst., and to vote down the shavery chause of the new constitution. It deres not meet the responsibility, pressed home upon it and its down the slavery clause of the new constitution. It deres not meet the responsibility, pressed home upon it and its partisans, of allowing a slavery constitution to be adopted when they confessedly have the power to reject it. The Journal says:

"We know not how the free mer. of Kansas may act upon the abstract proposition to be submitted in December. We hope, however, that they will deem it proper and fitting to give it a strong and emphatic NEGATIVE.

"This is fair and manly on the part of the Journal, and if its friends in Kansas adopt its sensible advice it and they will accomplish a greater service for 'freedom' than they have yet rendered, and will strip the Kansas question of most of its embarrassments."

The proprietors of the Newburyport Herald intend celebrating the 75th anniversary of their weekly paper, and the 25th of their daily, on the 17th of January, the anniversary of Franklin's birthday. They propose calling together every living printer who served an apprenticeship in their office, and every editor or prominent contributor. The list embraces the names of quite a number of distinguished gentlemen who now honor the various professions of life. An oration will be pronounced by an eminent statesman, and the occasion will be one of great interest.

MURDER.—A woman was killed in Princeton, Mercer county, last Saturday, by her brother. It appears that a man named Thomas whipped one of his sister's children, about which they had some words, when Thomas struck his sister on the head with a fire shovel. After she received the blow she went to a neighbor's house, told what had taken place, and died immediately. Thomas is in Mercer jail.—Petersburg (Va.) Southwest.

The Boston Journal says that the Hon. N. P. Ranks will take his seat in the United States House of Representatives, which meets next week, and hold it for a month, as the new State government of Massachusetts, of which he will be chief, cannot come into existence until the 6th of January next. His resignation from Congress, the Journal says, will take effect on the first of January

AMERICAN MILITARY EQUIPMENTS AND TOOLS

FOR THE VICEROY OF EGYPT.

For a few days past the barque Mary, at the south side of the India wharf, has been loading with an unusual cargo, consisting of military wagons and other articles of a war-like nature. A little inquiry revealed the fact that the vessel had been chartered for Mr. S. T. Armstrong, and vessel had been chartered for Mr. S. T. Armstrong, and that her port of destination was Alexandria, the capital of ancient Egypt.

It appears that the Viceroy, who has for many years received the greater portion of his machinery, &c., from England, has a desire to test the workmanship of this country, and thus the Young West sends to the Ancient East specimens of her advancement in the mechanic arts.

The cargo placed on board the Mary, and which has been carefully selected under the inspection of Mr. Armstrong, is principally for the equipment of an army upon the march, consisting of military wagons made after the pattern for those for the United States government, by Mr. Warren Mansfield, of South Braintree. Also, India rubber pontoons or bridges for the passage of armies across rivers, by the Boston Belting Company. These pontoons are accompanied by the necessary materials to build a complete temporary bridge. There are, also, tools of every description for the use of a moving army.

tools of every description for the use of a moving army.

This is the first expedition of this character which has left our shores for the country of the Nile. A few articles have at different times been sent, but never half enough to fill a vessel. The Mary will leave next week for Alexandria, and with fair winds and pleasant weather will, probably, make the passage in about forty days.

In addition to the above, we learn that Mr. Osgood Bradley, car-manufacturer, of Worcester, has an order from Egypt for a number of eight-wheeled American cars, for the railroad of that country.

in the United States arsenal at Watervliet are engaged in shipping 250,000 Minnie rifle-balls; their point of des-tination, however, we are not informed.—Albany Express.

The accident to the Boston train near Portsmouth, New Hampshire, on Sunday evening last, was near being disastrous to life and property. The cars were thrown from the track, and, after running a number of rods, and crushing into and over a culvert, were stopped just as they were falling down a high embankment.

It is estimated that a thousand barrels of cod oil are annually brought into the town of Beverly, Mass., by her fishermen. It is sold to the leather curriers. The pres-ent value is about $13 s barrel.

Wongs or Agr. - Mr. Stanley, whose studio is on Penn-Wongs or Asr.—Mr. Stanley, whose studio is on Pennsylvania avenue, just above the Kirkwood House, has just completed a fine three-quarter-length portrait of Col. William F. Phillips, late Sixth Auditor of the Treasury, which is to be presented to that gentleman's daughters by the clerks of the Burcau over which he so long presided. It represents him in his business office, surrounded by books and documents, and is a striking likeness, recognised at first sight by all the numerous acquaintances of the original. As a work of ark, it is equally excellent, combining correct drawing and fine coloring with that nbining correct drawing and fine coloring with that ife-like appearance which is too often sacrificed to gratify life-like appearance which is too often sacrineed to granty false notions of artistic effect.

We also noticed at Mr. Stanley's studio a large portrait of Billy Bowlegs, that redoubtable Seminole warrior of whom we have all heard so much. It represents him in full holiday costume, and has been painted from a daguerrectype, with suggestions from those personally familiar with the chieftain. This portrait Mr. Stanley intends to close to be believe which now graces the Smithsonian Institution, and is visited by crowds of the strangers who wish to "see the lions" of the Metropolis As mementos of a race fast disappearing from this conti-nent, of which they were the original masters, these pic tures are very interesting, nor can too much credit be awarded to Mr. Stanley for having collected and pre-served them without any direct encouragement.

Paroni's Grand Concert.—To-night the grand "combination concert," which has been talked of for several lays in social circles, will take place in Carusi's Saloon. A very brilliant assemblage may be expected, for, in addition to the attractiveness of the artists, the event will signalize the departure of Parodi for another country, where she is to appear in opera. She is a great vocalist in the dramatic school of music, and will not leave her equal in this country, where she has been a decided fa-vorite for seven years. Vicuxtemps is also a celebrity, and charms the public like an Orpheus. There is a great curiosity, too, to hear the newly-arrived English vocalists, especially among those who do not fancy the Italian school. Both Miss Milner and Mr. Perring are chroni-

Washington Art Association.—The lovers of go pictures will be pleased to hear the announcement that it is expected that some of the finest specimens in the French exhibition at New York will be contributed to the exhibition to be opened in the Corcoran building, in this city, on the 15th inst. Varied contributions by American artists are also promised, and it is to be hoped that matters will be so harmonized that the artists of this city will not withdraw from the association, which should obviously be under their control, and calculated to pro-

YESTERDAY was pleasant and spring-like, tempting forth almost all the new-comers upon the broad sidewalk of Pennsylvania avenue. Old friends interchanged cordial greetings, new acquaintances were made, and on every hand were heard congratulations on the prospect of an agreeable, harmonious session. four hundred acres are in a line state of cultivation; one hundred acres in meadow; sixty acres in wheat; two acres in orchard of the best selected fruit, now bearing finely, and enclosed by an Osage orange hodge. It is the best watered farm in the neighborhood. Resides never-failing ponds of stock water, there is a small creek running through the stract, suffersing an insthaustible supply of water at all seasons of the year. The farm is twelve miles from the flourishing and raigidy growing eigh of Louisians, our market town on the Missia we can take a load of produce in wagons to Louisians, and return the same day.

The buildings are a cottage dwelling house in good repair, containing eight recome; also kitchen, pantry, smeke-house, negro houses, alables, cornicerias, ices house, and other outhouses. Resides the stock water, there is a never-failing spring within two hundred yards of the house, two citerans, one of which is thirty feet deep, and ten feet in diameter, arched over at top with brick, and plastered maste with hydraulic cement, and otherwise finished in the completest manner.
There is not a more healthful farms in the State of Miscouri; nor is timere, in goneral estimation, a more beautiful and valuable one—secording to its size—in the county. I wish to sell it, simply because
